

The graph displays a signal over time. The signal is mostly flat at a low level, with minor fluctuations. Towards the end of the recording, there is a prominent, sharp peak that reaches a much higher amplitude than the baseline, followed by a rapid return to the baseline level.

